PERSONAL PROJECTS

- Single Slope Solar Desalination System April, 2024
This system was about using solar energy to turn salty water into fresh, drinkable water. (Your input in the project)
- This project was a single slope solar desalination system that uses sunlight to evaporate saltwater and collect the condensed fresh water. It had a design with a transparent cover sloping toward a collection point, allowing it to be easily set up and used anywhere there's sunlight. This system is ideal for individual use or small communities in remote areas. (The output you achieved by working on the project)
